

Breakfast Seminar

Developments in Equal Opportunity Laws and flexible Work Arrangements

The introduction of new anti-discrimination protections and entitlements for employees in the Fair Work Act and some recent decisions in which large damages awards have been made against employers highlight the importance of employers complying with anti-discrimination and equal opportunity obligations. This seminar will provide an overview of recent changes to equal opportunity obligations, examine how these changes fit with the previous state of the law and provide practical tips for how to manage and comply with the various obligations.
